Bridge

SPAN 4.0

Open for change and for mastery in designing office open spaces. Bridge is flexible and continual in its application and supports a wide variety of changes for a fully functional open office environment without burdening the layout.

With a chrome or optional powder coated frame system it creates a look of openness even in a large populated open plan office. The Bridge system has been designed to enable forward planning for a new office layout and can be manufactured to suit any layout with as many accessories and storage units as you can think of.

With optional fabric or polycarbonate privacy partitions in many colours the workstations can reflect the corporate colours of your company.

A modular system for every nooks and corners

Small offices, challenging spaces? No problem. Bridge it with the Train series. It creates a foundation that facilitates efficient processes and motivates work in all kinds of office environments: team spaces, individual spaces and even open-spaces.

Bridge Train system is designed to be flexible without losing the open look. Any number of workstations can be linked together to create the best use of the office space available yet still using all available options to create a usefull and functional work area for maximum productivity in a clean and bright environment.

Bridge Play is a concept design to show the versatility of office workstations in an open look & yet still be functional.

The Bridge Managers is another variation of the series to show how flexible the system can be manufactured

The Bridge can also be combined with our T35 partition system to create separate workareas for privacy
